Lenger detected photons in homeopathic remedies by two different magnetic resonance methods. Basing on these facts she developed a biochemical and biophysical model of homeopathic function. Biochemical reactions are working in higher energy levels caused by the uptake of photons; pathological pathways are working in totally different energetic levels. They can be attenuated by distinct photons of homeopathic remedies through resonance effect.

Therefore, substrates and inhibitors of the pathological pathways could be used in high homeopathic potencies, a completely new application of homeopathy. Just one condition had to be maintained: the homeopathic rule of similars.

This model could be applied to patients with Hashimoto thyroiditis, an autoimmune disease, creating antibodies against the enzymes and proteins of the thyroid. This gives the picture of a hypofunction of the thyroid: a false synthesis of proteins in the cells and a hypofunction of Ca⁺⁺-regulation in the body including the immune systems.

Therefore high potencies in LMK of Immunoglobulines IgA, IgG and IgM together with Silicea, Calcium Phosphoricum, Calcium fluoratum, Calcitoninum and Glandula Parathyroidea were applied to regulate both. For the metabolism of the matter substances kalium jodide and jodium in the thyroid the following remedies in LMK were applied: Kalium Jodatium, Jodium, Manganum aceticum and Selenium. By this therapy the antibodies diminished within a period of 4-6 months. The nodules of the thyroid also vanished later on.

Chronic Asthma arises from different causes. After having had pertussis or exhaustive operations the iron and haemoglobin-values became very deep disturbing the respiration chain; a substitution with iron did not succeed, but high potencies in XMK and LMK of Ferrum met, Hemoglobinum, Ferritin and Cortisonum inducing the synthesis of ferritin in liver cells.

The values of iron and hemoglobin normalized very soon. The breathing in of O₂ and the breathing out of CO₂ were additionally supported by the following remedies in LMK: Coenzyme Q, Cuprum met., Zincum met., all being substrates of the respiration chain. Applying this medication that type of asthma could successfully be cured. Another sort of asthma is caused by the paralysis of the chest muscles arising from a lack of the neurotransmitter acetylcholine at the nerve synapses. Acetylcholine is synthesized from acetyl-Coenzyme A and choline. The respiration chain in combination with the glycolysis delivers acetyl-Coenzyme A. The cleavage of lecithin delivers choline.

Therefore the following potencies in LMK were given: Glycogenum, Glucosum, Glycerinum, ATP and Phosphorus, Acetyl-Coenzyme A. For getting choline the following remedies were applied in LMK: Lecithinum, Lipasum, and Naja trip, venom of cobra, Dendroaspis polylepis, venom of black mamba, Atropinum, both venoms are lethal inhibitors of acetylcholinesterase and Acetylcholine at the end. To guarantee the function of the nerve synapses high potencies of the necessary minerals were added: Natrium chloratum, Kalium carbonicum, Magnesium phosphoricum and, of course Calcium phosphoricum. All remedies were given every other day.

Even rheumatism caused by the lack of acetylcholine can be cured the same way successfully.

Retinal detachment accompanied by bleeding is spread all over the world.

Detachment of the retina arises from a liver disease caused by a disturbance of protein metabolism. Applying the adequate homeopathic remedies healing or at least stagnation can be obtained.

Chronic epidemiological diseases can now be cured by homeopathic remedies, a successful low-cost therapy without side effects.
